2014-2015 Programming Guide

4-H/On My Own—This hands-on, real life simulation gives young people the opportunity to experience their futures in a fun and exciting way. They are encouraged to make healthy and wise lifestyle choices similar to those adults face on a daily basis. Students explore careers and receive a monthly salary based on the career they choose. Then, they proceed through "real life" deducting taxes, building savings accounts, paying bills, and balancing their budgets. Students are taught to write checks and balance their checkbooks along the way. In the end, students learn about money management and evaluate their choices.

CADCOR (Community Anti-Drug Coalition of Rutherford County)—A local agency designed with a mission to foster safe and healthy drug-free communities where children surpass their potential and families work together to solve problems for themselves and for the community. A CADCOR Outreach Director visits the facility regularly for substance abuse education, prevention and a positive mentoring opportunity.

Pet Therapy— Pet Partner Teams visit with the young people in Juvenile Detention. The teams interact with the kids through educating them about dog safety, demonstrating ways to train a dog, and the importance of trust in all types of relationships. The youth participate in hands-on activities designed to assist them with dealing with stressful situations and by teaching them life skills that will help them be successful upon release.

Portico/Asitia—Volunteers visit with detainees in small groups to empower them to make wise choices, have healthy relationships and avoid negative consequences by making poor choices regarding their sexuality. In addition, group sessions are conducted to reinforce core values such as honest, respect and cooperation.

Drum Therapy—Ross Lester, founder of Everybody Drums Some, visits regularly to conduct drum circles with the detainees. These circles consist of a group of detainees, each with their own African Hand Drum to play. Ross leads the group in a variety of rhythm activities and helps everyone stay on the beat. This kind of experience provides the youth with a wide range of physical, mental, emotional, and relational benefits. Drumming lends itself to universal participation thus teaching teamwork and the impact of one individual's actions on the group.

Real World Health—The Rutherford County Health Department Health Educators visit regularly to teach a series of lessons that focus on healthy relationships, sexual respect and safety. Students learn about protecting themselves, making responsible decisions and avoiding risky behaviors.

TEENS in ACTION—This high-energy program is designed especially for adolescents. The program, taught by the educational staff at the Rutherford County Juvenile Detention Center, teaches important communication skills while helping teens understand the dangers of risky behavior and how to avoid it. Additionally, the program focuses on helping teens understand changes in their bodies and brains; teaching them to communicate in a mature way with adults; developing skills for resisting negative peer pressure and learning techniques for peaceful conflict resolution. Classes are ongoing and there is no charge for the class.

ACTIVE Parenting of Teens—This program, taught by the educational staff at the Rutherford County Juvenile Detention Center, provides parents with the skills they need to meet the challenges of parenting teens and preteens in today's turbulent society. Each of the six sessions in the series include hands-on activities, group discussions and informational videos. Parenting classes are ongoing and there is no charge for the class.

Job Readiness—Facilitated by educational staff and designed to help youth learn job readiness skills such as filling out job applications, interviewing for a job, budgeting their salary, opening bank accounts, exploring the market for the right credit and debit cards and so much more. This curricula prepare youth to meet the future by handling problems and difficult situations commonly encountered in daily life.

C2 Character Challenge—This interactive curriculum trains in 28 character traits/ strengths by using segments from popular movies to illustrate the strengths. Lesson plans are facilitated by Rutherford County Juvenile Detention Center staff and are delivered in a group setting. The curriculum focuses on drop-out prevention, reducing at-risk behaviors and reinforcement of positive behaviors in a peer setting.

ARISE Life Management Skills—This all encompassing life skills curricula is an interactive way to capture the attention of easily distracted youth. These sessions are held in small groups. Trained staff facilitators lead the groups which address such topics as anger management, substance abuse awareness, self-esteem, preventing violence, health and hygiene, job readiness and a variety of other pertinent issues.

PLATO Courseware for online learning and GED/HiSet—PLATO Learning addresses the needs of at-risk learners via a web based learning opportunity. The online learning experience is filled with rich media graphics, video and interactivity. The curriculum focuses on identifying gaps in the learner's knowledge and identifying obstacles in moving forward. Pretests, practice exercises and post tests give students the opportunity to identify their needs, work through them and become successful learners.

In addition to core subjects, learners have the opportunity to assess their skills in preparation for the GED and/or HiSet examination. Plato provides remedial lessons for skills that need to be mastered and a post-test in each area to assess the learner's preparedness.

Credit Recovery—Detainees are given the opportunity to continue their online credit recovery opportunities from their zoned school while they are detained by utilizing the facility's computer lab and IPads.
